

Writing to Explain

Audience	Purpose	Examples	Typical Structure	Typical Language Features
Someone who wants to understand a process or a concept.	To help someone understand a concept or a process.	Exam answer (explain).	The concept/process is raised at the start and often summed up at the end. Paragraphs are used to introduce different reasons or to show steps in a process. Use of the third person (it, they) Use of specific key words to help explanation. Can include diagrams to help explanation.	Sequence                      Firstly, secondly, next, gradually, over time, eventually, finally. Cause and Effect                      Consequently, as a result, because of, therefore, until, whenever, depending upon Comparison                      Equally, similarly, compared with Addition                      Furthermore, moreover, in addition to